

New Jersey is the most disgustingly regulated state in the country, however the do not call list is one regulatuion that actually works. If I am interested in a companies' products or information, I can contact them directly. There is no need to change the law of NJ to allow telemarketers to call me for any reason. Unsolicited calls are not welcome at my home.